"The Reporter"

Devoted to the interests of pupils and patrons of the Strassberger Conservatories of Music.

Published in September, December and June.

J. W. SNEED, Editor.

INTRODUCTORY

The aim of these Conservatories are, and always have been, to instill in pupils a thirst for knowledge, an inclination for conscientious, thorough work, and by so doing to build up a broad musical education in the fullest sense of the term, not merely a superficial knowledge in any one branch. The success which has crowned its efforts is sufficient evidence that its standard of excellence has been fully maintained, and its achievements duly appreciated by the earnest student.

The methods employed will warrant the most careful consideration, and special attention is called to the advantage to be derived from the system here pursued, bringing to the pupils the direct influence of a thoroughly competent faculty and surrounding them with that musical atmosphere so essential to rapid and successful progress.

Strassberger Kindergarten of Music

This coming year Director Strassberger will establish in his Conservatories a Musical Kindergarten based on the celebrated Burrows Musical Kindergarten method. Miss May Farrington, a talented young pianist and post-graduate of the Conservatory has made a thorough and comprehensive study of this branch of teaching and is personally particularly adapted as teacher for young children.

The musical kindergarten is of great value and assistance to the small child or the musical beginner; through this course of study children who possess no natural musical ability and are even tone deaf may be taught to sing and play correctly in a short time, and are able to name any tone, interval or triad struck upon the piano. If this is true of the child of no talent, how much more may be accomplished with the child of natural ability.

By this method at the end of the course of 120 lessons the child will thoroughly know the entire keyboard, be completely familiar with all the major scales and able to write and play them from memory; they will know the meaning of all ordinary musical terminology, and will play with expression, ease and accuracy many simple pieces. This is all learned not by solitary and tedious practice by the child alone, but in the class room under the personal supervision of the teacher; and by the aid of songs, drills, games and exercises; also many appliances are used, these being specially designed to attract and appeal to the child nature.

Such elementary training is invaluable to the child, developing all the musical faculties, creating good musical taste and an enthusiastic desire to learn.

Public and Private Recitals

A special feature is made of the public and private recitals at these Conservatories, last season some fifty of these recitals being given at the North and South side Conservatories. The benefit of these recitals cannot be overestimated, they accustom the student to public appearances, and overcome nervousness and timidity, giving an assurance and confidence not to be obtained by any other method.

Harmony Classes

New Harmony Classes will be arranged in the latter part of October to commence the first week in November.

Composition and Counterpoint Class

Applications for new Counterpoint and Composition class will be received after September 2nd.

Director Clemens Strassberger

For the first time since the organization of his Conservatories over twenty years ago, Director Strassberger was not able to be present at the Commencement Exercises. The strain and constant application necessary in building up his two great Institutions have told on the health of the Director and he was compelled to take a much needed and well earned vacation.

He is traveling in Europe and is confident that on his return in the fall his health will have been restored, and he will be able to take up the direction of his Institutions with his usual energy and success. In the meantime the Conservatories are under the capable direction and control of Mme. Clemens Strassberger.

Mr. Samuel Bollinger

Mr. Clemens Strassberger takes pleasure in announcing that he has secured the well-known and eminent pianist, teacher and composer, Mr. Samuel Bollinger to teach exclusively in his Conservatories. Mr. Bollinger is not only a gifted pianist and most successful teacher, but ranks as one of our foremost American Composers, his compositions appearing on the programs of such world famous artists as Godowsky, Augusta Cottlow, Sherwood, and Lachmund; a testimonial of merit that needs no higher indorsement.

Mr. Bollinger is an American, educated at Leipzig, and a graduate of the Leipzig Conservatory, completing his musical education under such world renowned teachers as Reinecke, Zwintscher, Schreck and Quasdorf. He was widely known as a teacher in Europe, and on returning to America established himself in San Francisco where for eight years he was known as one of the most prominent teachers on the Pacific Slope. He comes to St. Louis from Chicago where for the past year he has been associated as teacher with the eminent Rudolph Ganz.

As pianist, composer and teacher, Mr. Bollinger has been highly praised by the musical critics of the press and indorsed by the leading musical periodicals. As a pianist he possesses a singularly sympathetic tone finished technique and an artistic and comprehensive interpretation that reveals the full musical content.

Both in Europe and America Mr. Bollinger has achieved a distinct success as a teacher, his pupils having received the heartiest commendation from press and public. Mr. Bollinger will be a notable acquisition to the distinguished faculty of the Conservatories.

MR. SAMUEL BOLLINGER

"Mr. Bollinger demonstrated through his magnificent performance, that he is a master of the piano."—N. Y. Amsterdam Deutsche Zeitung.

"Mr. Bollinger has the technique of an artist, and his beautiful touch and execution were simply a revelation to his enthusiastic audience."—Fort Smith, Daily Record.

"Sam'l Bollinger upon a recent date before Las Amigas Club furnished a musical program that has been pronounced the most ambitious ever listened to in Sausalito up to that event."—Sausalito (Cal.) Advocate.

Final Examinations of the Graduating Class for the Year 1907

The final annual examinations of the Graduating Class were held Saturday, May 12th, at the Northside Conservatory.

The pupils in the various departments proved themselves well prepared for the severe tests of the examinations showing the results of long and efficient training on the part of the graduating teachers of the Conservatories.

All examined passed them satisfactorily and were highly complimented and commended by the Examining Board, consisting of Charles Galloway, Chairman; Dr. Robt. Goldbeck, Sig. Guido Parisi, Adelaide Kalkman, C. W. Kern, Richard Stempf, Horace P. Dibble, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Strassberger and Mrs. Clemens Strassberger.

The examinations were unusually severe this year, Mr. Strassberger having required a higher degree of proficiency. That all passes them with credit and in many cases with distinction was praiseworthy evidence of conscientious study, earnest effort and natural ability on the part of the students also evincing the splendid and scholarly training of the graduating teachers.

The classes in Harmony, Mr. Richard Poppen, instructor, merit especial praise, the pupils demonstrating by their answers a thorough and comprehensive understanding of this most necessary but difficult branch of music. Special mention should be made of the work in Harmony done by Mathilda Ambuehl, of Highland, Ill., and Dora Keller.

The applicants for awards who so successfully passed the examinations were:

Graduating Exercises of the Class of 1907—at the Olympic Theatre

THE graduating exercises of the Strassberger Conservatories of Music took place on the afternoon and evening of June 16th. The two immense audiences, that more than tested the capacity of the theatre, heard both programs. The orchestra pit was filled to overflowing with flowers and presents to be presented to the various graduates on the completion of their numbers.

The programs were of unusual merit and so well rendered that the audiences manifested their approval and appreciation by long and continuous applause. The students displayed perfect ease and self-possession and gave their numbers with a surety and confidence rarely found on such programs. This was doubtless due not only to the complete mastery of the work performed and the tireless and efficient instruction on the part of the graduating faculty, but also to the splendid system of monthly public and private recitals maintained by these Conservatories, some fifty private and public recitals being given during the year, a record not made by any other Conservatory in the West.

The program of the afternoon began at two o'clock P. M. and long before the appointed hour the theatre was filled and standing room was at a premium. The Director regrets that so many are Beethoven's beautiful "Coriolan Overture" Quartette arrangement, a number seldom heard on a concert program, was splendidly interpreted by Katherine M. Weber, Mathilda E. Ambuehl, Frieda L. Friesz and Minnie Reitz, showing fine ensemble work. "Piano Concerto" D minor-Mozart, played by Irene H. Stockho (first movement), Theresa Ursula Dougherty (second movement), and Pearl E. Du Benrick (third movement), brought prolonged applause from the crowded house; each movement was given with admirable style and splendid tonal effects.

The piano solo "Silver Spring"—Mason, and "Grand Gallop Chromatique"—Liszt, played by Lucille M. Ruehmkoef, and Mendelssohn's "Capriccio Brilliant," played by Estella M. Darr, showed brilliant technique, beautiful touch and musical temperament on the part of the young students. Mr. Richard Woltjen played the difficult piano solo "Robert di Diable"—Meyerbeer-Liszt; he showed a thorough comprehension of the work and played with great brilliancy of technique and strength of tone.

The violin department was represented by Mr. Frank Dittmeier, who played "Fantasie Appassionata," first tempo, by Vieuxtemps, displaying fine tone and technique and a systematic interpretation. Mr. Irwin Hengelsberg received hearty applause for his splendid rendition of Hubay's "Czardos." Mr. Hengelsberg forced to be turned away at these Commencements, but there is no theatre or hall in St. Louis large enough to accommodate all interested friends of the graduates and the Conservatories.

The program opened with the "Mignon Overture" by Thomas, a piano duet with string accompaniment, played with excellent technique and fine interpretation by Elinor M. W. Schnittker and Olinda Bollhorst. "Piano Concerto," A major by Mozart, Olga A. H. Moellman (first movement), May Farrington (second movement), and Louise Augusta Boerner (third movement); and later on the program the Beethoven "Piano Concerto in C major," Gertrude M. Gantner (first movement), Bertha E. Harz (second movement), and William T. Rushing (third movement), proved among the most interesting and enjoyable numbers on the program, each player showed fine technique, excellent taste and a finished style, playing with confidence and musical understanding. Piano Duo "Hungarian Fantasie" by Liszt, played by Dora C. Keller and Ernst W. Daab, showed fine ensemble work, brilliant style and admirable interpretation. Two Piano solos "Novelette No. 8" by Schuman and "Grand Fantasie from Opera Faust," Goldbeck-Gounod, artistically played by Lillian M. Peyton and Olivia DeMette-Mould and the piano solo "Grand Polonaise in E" by Liszt, brilliantly played by Edna O. Gundlach, were enthusiastically applauded. These three young ladies have remarkable technique and play with scholarly interpretation; they have been earnest students and possessing unusual musical ability they may confidently look forward to a successful musical career.

never played to better advantage than in this number, playing the selection with perfect ease and confidence. Mr. August Schmitt's interpretation of the difficult "Grand Etude de Concert" for violin alone, one of the most difficult numbers ever written for the violin, reflected great credit not only on the violinist but on his instructor. Mr. Schmitt played his number sympathetically, with beautiful finish and great delicacy of interpretation.

The vocal numbers on the program were: "Cavatina from Opera Robert di Diable," by Meyerbeer, sung by Hazel Bowman, and "Cavatina, O Mio Fernando"—Donizetti, given by Alma Bagley; both singers showed admirably schooled voices, distinct enunciation and beautiful tone. Miss Bowman possesses a voice of unusual strength and much beauty of quality. Miss Bagley was never heard to better advantage than in her difficult selection; her voice is strong, true and very flexible.

The department of Oratory and Dramatic Art was represented by Wilhelmina Hilkerbaumer and Gertrude Kirksey. Miss Hilkerbaumer gave a difficult number, Act 4, Scene 3, from "Taming of the Shrew"—Shakespeare, with fine effect; she showed a perfect understanding of the text and her impersonation of the four characters brought into the scene was excellent. Miss Kirksey gave a monologue "In a Balcony," by Fiske, which proved one of the popular numbers of the evening. Her voice and manner were charming and her impersonation of the character was most natural, moving the audience first to laughter and later to the deep sympathy with the pathos of the final scene.

Shakesperean Plays Given by the Oratory and Dramatic Art Department

DURING the past year the Oratory and Dramatic Art Department has presented several Shakesperean plays, early in the season scenes from "Romeo and Juliet" and the "Merchant of Venice", being most successfully presented, and on the evening of May 22nd, the immortal comedy "A Midsummer-Night's Dream" was given in its entirety together with the Mendelsohn Orchestral Score played by the Conservatory Orchestra under the directorship of Mr. Bruno Strassberger; and the fairy chorus sung by the Choral Department under direction of Mr. Richard Poppen.

These plays together with the opportunities for public appearances at the monthly and semi-monthly recitals afford the pupils of this department an advantage not enjoyed by any other school in St. Louis and seldom surpassed in the largest schools of the East where Dramatic Art is taught exclusively.

On the evening of the presentation of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the large hall at the Southside Conservatory was crowded to overflowing, and several hundred people were unable to secure admittance.

The play was elaborately and artistically staged and costumed, the stage had been especially arranged for the production, new scenery painted and mechanical and electrical effects secured; Director Strassberger having spared no pains or expense to have the performance an artistic success.

The students played their parts with the ease, grace and assurance of professsionals, showing long and thorough rehearsals, they delivered the difficult Shakesperean lines with an intelligence, rhythm and accent seldom heard among amateurs. Miss Grace Sheets, who has charge of the Oratory and Dramatic Art Department, is one of the most serious Shakesperean scholars in St. Louis, and has studied under some of the best Shakesperean managers and producers. She has been most successful as a teacher of Oratory and Dramatic Art.

The plays given by her pupils and under her direction ranking among the best amateur productions ever given in St. Louis.

The cast of characters was played entirely by the young ladies of the department. Miss Mable Taylor gave a dignified and effective personation of Theseus, Duke of Athens; and Miss Hilkerbaumer, who is particularly good in character parts, played splendidly two characters, Egeus and Flute. Misses Kirksey and Watkins as the Athenian lovers played their roles with fine fervor and dramatic power. The workmen, the quaint mechanicals of Athens, pleased the large audience immensely, calling forth much laughter and applause. Miss Stupp, as Quince, played the character to perfection rivaling Bottom, played by Miss Mertens, who gave a characterization of that famous weaver worthy of a professional. Snug and Snout played by Misses Richmond and Pleitner were exceedingly clever; Miss Pleitner also played Hippolyta, the Amazon queen, and made a very fine appearance. Miss Mathilda Strassberger, as Hermia, daughter of Egeus, made one of the best, impressions of the evening, playing the part with fine dramatic strength. Miss Maragret O'Brien was a particularly appealing Helena, playing the part with a winning sweetness and great depth of feeling that brought her much applause.

Shakespeare's immortal fairies, Oberon, Titania and Puck, were played by the younger members of the class, they gave their lines remarkably, bringing out every shade of meaning and showing unusual talent. Miss Clara Niedringhaus was a graceful, dignified and delightful Queen of the Fairies, her scenes with Bottom being heartily applauded. Miss Ruth Koken played Puck and her impersonation of the fairy mischief maker was little short of remarkable for she seemed the character personified. Miss Alice Kernan was a pretty and very pleasing first fairy.

The play moved smoothly across the boards and was given from the initial act to the fall of the final curtain without necessity of prompting, or any mistakes to mar the finished performance.

Pupils of the Dancing Department under the direction of the well-known teacher Mrs. Letitia Palmer Cirode, danced a beautiful little fairy ballet that received great applause.

The Conservatory Orchestra

Mr. Bruno Strassberger, Conductor

The Conservatory Orchestra, consisting of pupils of the two Institutions, under the direction of the well-known violinist and teacher Mr. Bruno Strassberger, played the beautiful Mendelsohn score with a breadth of interpretation and surety and evenness of execution that bespoke long and thorough rehearsals on the part of the Conductor. All the numbers on the musical program were played in a manner far above the usual amateur orchestra, the beautiful Nocturne and the famous Wedding

March deserve especial mention, and were enthusiastically applauded. Mr. Erwin Hengelsberg was Concert-meister and played several beautiful obligato solos in a most satisfactory and meritorious manner. Mrs. Bruno Strassberger played the piano accompaniments beautifully, greatly assisting the orchestra.

Mr. Bruno Strassberger, who is one of the most successful teachers of violin in the city, has been giving special attention to class work and ensemble playing for several years. The Conservatory Orchestra will be a feature of next year's recital programs. Such ensemble playing is of inestimable value to all students of stringed instruments, and an advantage not to be found in any other Conservatory in the city.

It is the intention of Director Strassberger to continue this choral work and next year beside the Shakespearean and modern plays to be given to present one or more of the light operas.

Graduating Exercises—Continued.

Mr. Charles Galloway assisted as accompanist for the vocal and violin selections. Mr. Galloway is one of the best accompanists in this country, and both Director Strassberger and the students fully appreciate his courtesy in assisting in this manner.

Dr. Goldbeck played the second piano part with all the concertos in a brilliant and effective manner. A string Quintette composed of Arno Waechter, Violin; Val Schopp, Violin; J. Boehman, Violoncello; P. G. Anton, Violoncello, and Robert Buhl, Contra Basso, accompanied all Piano Concertos, Duets and Quartets, adding much to the fine effect.

At the close of the musical program, Mr. H. W. Becker, A. M., was introduced and made a pleasing address to the audience and graduates. He stated that his one regret in listening to the excellent program was that Director Strassberger, for the first time since the organization of his Conservatories, was not present at the Commencement Exercises. He highly complimented the Directors, teachers and graduates for the splendid results shown by the rendition of the program. At the close of his remarks Mrs. Clemens Strassberger presented the diplomas and awards to the Graduates.
